A GREAT BOULEVARD

IT WILL LEAD OUT OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK.

Will Cost $20,000,000-Must Be Finished Within Three Years-No Roads Will Cross It at Grade-An Ideal Highway

for Rider, Bicyclist or Walker.

Gotham will some day-and not a tery fatoft day either-possess one of the most famous thoroughfares in the world. Quietly and irresistably as the operation of the tides and other forces of nature. New York has proceeded to ward the realization of one of its inevitable improvements—a grand concourse or bonleyard extending from the Harlem river to Mesheln parkway. It will be a grand drive and promenade connecting the pack systems of the metropolis. This enterprise when realized will surpass even the famous boulevards of Paris.

It is to run for 41, miles along the river, dividing the Hudson river and Long Island sound, beginning at the intersection of One Hundred and Sixtyjust street and Mott avenue, its northern terminus being Mosholn parkway, just east of Jerome avenue. No streets will cross it at grade, but all will go beneath it, a result that is particularly practicable by the naturally elevated situation of this unique highway. Its cost is to be about $20,000,000 $8,000,-000 of which, it is estimated, will be required for the acquisition of right of

The time allowed for its construction is three years. Within a year, according to the ongineers in charge, the work will be well under way. The last legislature gave the city authorities in charge of such auprovements all the law needed to condemn property, make prelimnary surveys and perfect arrangements for prosecuting the work, which is to be unique among the famous streets of the eurth.

A glance at the plans prepared shows that the width of the conceurse will be 182 feet, and every inch of this space will be utilized so as to make the thoroughfare attractive. In the rough sketches which have been made the engineer has provided for a sidewalk on either side. Next to each sidewalk will be an ordinary driveway. The speedways will be in the middle, flanked on either side by a promenade. It is likely that this plan will be altered so as to provide two bridle palls skirting the speedways. Mosholu parkway, into which the concourse will run, is 600 feet wide. It connects Van Cortlandt and Bronx parks. Another wide street connects Bronx park and Pelliam Manor park. It will thus be seen that trops the new bridge over the Harlem the concourse will provide a splendid means of communication with the great parks in north New York. There will be at least five rows of trees the entire length of the therough-tare. The tifreen streets, which will run beneath the concourse, will also connect with it, but will not cross the main street. This magnificent highway will be a paradise for breyelists, the possessors of high steppers and those folk who still stick to the good old fashioned constitutional. And its relations, logical and material, to the further development of up town New York cannot well well be overestimated, -New York Cor. Pittsburg Dispatch.

There Were Sorcerers in Those Days . Early History-A True Story of a Choon the Little Scioto, Interestingly To'

Late in the fall of 1865 the writetook passage on a steamboat at Cincinnati, bound for New Orleans It was a new boat, just purchased by a couple of jolly bachelors who were extensively engaged in the production of tur pentine in the vicinity of Key West, Florida, and as the craft was intended for use in Florida waters and not in the upper rivers, the captain informed all applicants for passage that the trip would not be a very quick, but pleas ant one. On the Tuesday that First Mate Keen ordered the deck hands to "haul in that gang plank" about twenty passengers, all bound for the Crescent City, assembled upon the guards and hurricane deck to wave good-bye to friends that had come to see them off and to watch the receding shadowof the Queen City as the gallant little steamer rounded out into the middle of the stream and started on her journey to the land of flowers.

The trip proved one of the most pleasant I ever enjoyed. During the day-time all resorted to the guards or hurricane deck to take in the beautiful scenery on the Ohio and Mississippi rivers, and at night sat around the ta bles in the cabin reading, playing cardor telling stories. Among the most in teresting talkers was a gentuel, educated and most pleasant gentleman, apparently about fifty years old, named Anderson, who was going to canvas Louisiana in the interest of some manufacturing establishment at Springfield, Ohio. There was something about this gentleman's voice and manners that caused me to suspicion that I had met him some time under different circumstances, but could not settle in my mind when and where.

It was the evening of the sixth day since we left the wharf at Cincinnati, and we are about twenty miles below Vicksburg. It is a rainy, dreary night outside, but very comfortable in the cabin, where at one table Mr. Anderson a young man from Zanesville, Ohio, confederate lieutenant just released from the rebel prison at Johnson's is land, and the writer had been playing eachre ever since the lamps were lighted.

'I'm tired of this game," said the lieutenant, throwing down the deck, 'let's quit and have Col. Anderson tell us one of his choicest, richest tales; I'c rather hear him talk than eat when I'm hungry."

"Well, gentlemen, said Mr. Ander son, to whose name the confederati had taken the liberty of affixing the title of "Colone)," "since you reques it and I am a little stale on cards my self, I will relate the incidents of a day or rather a night, in my life that I shall surely never forget."

And the gentleman gave us the following story, for the truth of every word of which the writer can youch, as he was one of the participants in the scenes related, though for prudential reasons he did not tell the party so that

'Nearly twenty years ago," began Mr. Anderson, "I was employed by a grocery and drug jobbing house at Co lumbus, Ohio, as a sort of solicitor and collector. Along in the early part of one September I was ordered by the firm to visit Delaware, Marysville, r little place called Berwick, Marion Waldo and Norton. In that region there were no railroads in those days and on horse-back was my favorite way of traveling. On the first day I only went as far as Delaware and on the second reached Maryaville. On the third day I was detained some time at Berwick, yet believed I could easily reach Marion by supper time, and therefore allowed my horse to chose his own pace. I had forded the Big Scioto at what was known as Halderman's mill, and had gone probably two miles from that river when I suddenly realized that it was growing quite dark and in a few moments more I was in the middle of a most violent thunder storm. My horse, terrified by the lightning, fairly took the bit in his teeth and started off with me at full gallop. I think we had gone at this gait about two miles, the rain coming down in torrents, when my horse brought up in front of a neat-looking little country inn, located three or four hundred yards, I should judge. from the Little Scioto river.

"Well, thought I, there was method in your madness, old boy, since it brought us to this comfortable refuge and if I can get accommodations 13 just make a night of it here and go or to Marion early in the morning, and alighting, gave him in charge of an elderly man, who proved to be both hostler and landiord.

I was directed to the guest room which appeared large, clean and comfortable. There were several travelers already in the room-probably like myself, driven there for shelter, and as the thunder storm had made the atmosphere quite cool, were warming and drying themselves by the blazing fire while waiting for supper. I joined the approaches the table; he writes party. In a short time, probably half an hour, being summoned by the hosters we marched into the dining room and sat down, twelve in number. to a smoking repast of bacon and eggs corned beef, stewed chicken, etc.

SWEET POTATO WHISKY.

If Found Paying, the Tuber May Become . Valuable Product.

J. W. Crow has a small bottle of sweet potato whisky that is a very interesting commodity in this section of the country, and not a familiar one to the world at large. The liquid is crude and white, as all new whisky is, but it is the genuine old stuff and not a connterfeit. Among the home seekers who have been to this section lately was Mr. Hansburg, a German, who is skilled in the distillation of spirits. When he saw how abundantly sweet potatoes were raised in this section of the country, it occurred to him that he could distill whisky from them. Several bushels of sweet potatoes were shipped to him, and soon Mike Brown received a haif gallon of sweet petato whisky

As a result of the success of the cheme arrangements are being made to distill the liquor for commercial purposes. If the residue can be converted into starch, the sweet potato will soon become one of the most valuable products of southern soil -Augusta (Ga.) Chronicle.

and in good condition it is necessary, to give them regular attention. A weil fitting gown of moderate cost, well cared for, looks more cleannt than the most uxion. sive one if the latter is tumbled and solled.

The out of duor dress should be taken off as soon as the wearer enters the house and should be hung up to air at once. After it is dry from all dampness it should be shaken and theroughly brushed and repairs made in the skirt binding if there are any worn or ripped places. It should then be placed on a coat hanger and put away in a closet. Coat hangers are now very cheap and are of the greatest assistmee in keeping garments unwrinkled.

Hats and bonnets should be dusted with be brushed or wiped free of dust, before being put away. If the habit of giving one's wardrobe this small attention regutake little time and trouble, and the result will be a nest and trim appearance always, as well as the assumnce that one's costume is in readiness to be worn at a moment's notice. It is less expensive in the end to have a different house dress than to make me gown serve for both street and house wear. It is imperative that the out of door costume should be natty and fashionable looking, and constant wear about the house will soon impair its freshness. The indoor gown may be of theap material cheaply made, provided it is well fitting and in good faste, and there are many fanciful ways of trimming it at small cost that would not be at all suitable for a street costume,

The humorist may never know what sympathy is being expressed for him, as there is much doubt as to his recovery. Nye however, never wanted anything serious said of him until after his death, and were it possible he would likely turn his own affliction into merriment.

The fear that with a new gas company in Marion the streets will undergo another tearing up is not well founded, when the plans of the proposed new company are thoroughly considered It is the intention, in case a franchise is granted, to utilize the alleys and unimproved streets, and paving will have to be torn up in a very few instances, where it is absolutely necessary to cross them. There can be no objection to granting a franchise upon such grounds.

EXPERIENCE OF A FORMER MARION. BOY NIOLD MIXICO.

He Tells About a Boat Drawn by Fish and of a Game of Ball Played by Monkeya-Ashark Under the saddle-Tropical Peruliarities. One of our citizens is in receipt of a

-tter from Mexico written to hom by afriend, a former Marion boy, which night. tells some of the fishiest stories ever put on paper. Since the writer is a man of his word and is not in the habit of day dreaming we must assume that he know- what he is talking about and credit his tales. The letter is dated "LaBarra, State

Tamaulipas, Mexico," which the writer states is at the mouth of the graphs framed. The members are phol'anuco river, right miles down the coast from Tampico, on the Gulf of dress and in uniforms, and then in Mexico, a two days' ride over the Mex- | bodies as they form and rush in the ican Central railway from the City of field. "Since my arrival here I bave had experiences which were as new and novel to me as the scenery which we passed in reaching this point and I must tell you of some of them. Christmas afternoon a friend said, 'We are going nonor of the day and pleasing exercises to give you a treat this afternoon in the any of a game of ball in December the thinking,of course, that being an American, I would be interested in the naconsisting of blackboard drawings by tional game; but it will be necessary to go up the civer a few miles to see it.' VAST PLAN TO SPAN THE MIGHTY CATARACT OF NIAGARA.

Practicable and Assured-The Structure to Cost $40,000,000-AH Nations to Aid In Mailding Its-Colonel Heakle of Rochester the Projector of the Enterprise.

Niagara harnessed would, it is claim-Il, have the energy to furnish the motive power for all the machinery in the world. And Mr. Leonard Henkle of Rochester has a project to milize the 10.000,000 horsepower that the mighty falls generate every second and that. too, without marring their natural beauty, but even enhancing it by a wonderful structure that is to be a work of art m neelf.

His scheme also has the advantage of diverting no water from the river and it is regarded as so thoroughly feasible that New York and Toronto capitalists have guaranteed the interest on $10,-000,000 and the work will Legm in July next. Mr. Heakle proposes nothing less than the erection of a superidous structure, to be called "The Great Dynamic Palaco and International Hall," which will bridge the great cataract.

This palace, located about 50 feet above the brink of the Horseshen falls, will be at least half a mile long, and in width 1,500 feet; the height will be 606 feet, the center, however, rising to about 1,000 feet above the river. The lower part of the building will average 48 stories, and me the center something more than 50 stories. The structure will be supported and unchored by two massive stone towers, fixed with heavy steel girders, each placed 900 foot from the bank. These towers will be each 18 feet m thickness, 1,600 feet wide, 120 feet high and will weigh nearly 600,000 tims apiece.

The structure will be divided into three parts, the east and west wings and the main building. The wings will each be 902 feet in length and the central portion 536 feet long.

The exterior will consist of block stone, fretted and ornamented. The building will be sopported by 19 hage columns, which are to be presented by the nations of the world. Promises have already been obtained from some of then that the columns will be for nished. They will be richly sculptured and the motto of the nation presenting each will be inscribed at its base. They will also have the name of the nation set in gold, silver or aluminium letterat the top. Eight hundred smaller columus, composed of Mexican only and aluminium, will also be used.

At the American end of the building, above the main entrance, will be insoribed, "United States of America," and at the Canadian entrance, "Ontario, Dominion of Canada. " Above the central entrance will be the word "Uni tarius." Inside the building steel girders will be used for the purpose of support. Iron columns will also be placed between the fleors. Forty-seven million five hundred and twenty thousand feet of fireproof flooring will be required, which it is estimated will cost at least $475,200. The structure will have 11. 982 windows and a correspondingly large number of doors.

The first ten stories will be used for dynamos and other apparatus for generating electricity.

At the extreme lower front of the building proper there will be 552 two turbing wheels, capable of developing about 3,300,000 horsepower a minute, which will run over 7,000 dynamos

Immediately below the first story, an immense arcade will furnish a passage from the United States to Canada for the Grand Trunk, West Shore and other railways. This will be lighted with thousands of are and incandescent lights.

Above the tenth story and up to the ate-fifth, the building will be used for commercial purposes, among the most important that of grinding the western wheat which comes down from the lakes

The interior of the building will be chiefly of carved stone and Mexican

The forty-sixth story will be an enermons hall, extending the length of the building, with a seating capacity of 70,-1000, who may be addressed by one speaker by the use of electrical intonatots. This hall will be the most beautiful in the world and will be devoted ex clusively to international religious and social meetings and conventions. It is expected that each of the nations of the world will turnsh a design for a win dow, and it is estimated that the fur nishings of the half will cost $5,000,000

AND THE REAL HERO.

There Is a Great Deal of Poetry About War, and in Pictures at Least the Warriors Wear Good Clothes-Man's Valor Versus Woman's Courage.

[Copyright, 146 by Edgar W. Nye ] The late war demonstrated the fact that American soldiers could not only message over the wires. But the versatility of the soldier did not end with the war. It remained for later years to demonstrate that he could write books We have therefore the war before us No one paid any attention to the remark snow in a clearer, better light, and we

Even with the mist of 30 years over the long but of me are graves intervening, with the softening light of chlung soasons upon the grim picticle, it has little or it that we care to look upon unless it be with the stern joy of the victor. How would we regard this picture were we to look back over the scarred and broken history, across the bitter years of blank le-pair and death, down to the quiet valley where he our dead, dearer to us because they died in vain?

But I started out to say something else. I was going to recall come of the old pictures-the trutypes, as it wereof war.

Do you recall the early picture of the volunteer soldier made by a strolling She was born in Princeton Mo, in 1852 lartist with chemicals in his hands clear While a mere child her mother aird, and to his shoulder blades? Do you remember this gentleman who came and camped with you and pointed a comera at you just after you had receaved your new uniform? He was a man who was thoroughly imbaed with his art and some other things that they use in developing pictures. He placed his victim on a retired chair, put a cold, iron prong in the back of his neck and kept Join there until his eyes started from then ockets. I have seen several such tintypes lately taken by this same artist. In fancy I can see him in his studio on a lint day. He has begun work on a young soldier whose inditary cont deeves are too long. with a lemen rind floating upon its heaving bosom, I here mute with you in drinking the health of the homely man who lights for our liberties in time of war and preserves them in time of peace-the man who joyfully enters a fight, knowing that to be disfigured will improve his appearance.

And, let me add, it might be a good dea to take the names of those who are agitating the subject of a war with England. It might be safe to say that if such a catastrophe should occur not one of those men would be in it. If the men who brought on a war had to fight it, there would be less war.

"A Constant Reader" writes to know whether man or woman may be regarded as the more comageous when we consider the matter carefully and thorough ly. She says that true courage and genume heroism do not belong solely to the attributes of those that fight battles and die if need be for the cause they esponse. It is as truly and essentially heroic for a woman to endure what she frequently must in silence throughout a lifetime, in order that she may at the pince of her own happiness insure the comfort of her children, as it is for a man under the infinence of a glorious francy of patriotsm to imperil his life for an hour n the midst at battle. All this is true. It is hard to say which sex is entitled to the greater praise, and it may be safely stated that they both excel, but in different bucs. It requires some kind of conrage for a man to face a violent death for the cause he drems rast, and it requires another to sustain a woman during 40 years of association with a mean man. By a wise provision of nature man is so constructed that he may win a large amount of glory on the rented field. while his wife needs fully as much contage to live with him after he returns from said tented field. Man makea specialty of physical courage, while woman is more apt to dabble in the mental and moral variety with great success. Man is apt to mingle in the fray and come home with a 40 pound shot concealed in his thorax. Woman prefers to suffer on through life, trying

it. A good many men have given them the loose on my finger, was gone. We wives employment of this kind through: out a long life. They have then died. It was a good thing to do. A man who has made this a business can do nothing that will more generally give satisfaction to those who know him than to die. It he could arrange to do so just before he married anybody, it would be highly appreciated.

Sometimes we read of wonderful deeds of bravery on the part of people

TRYING TO REFORM A BUSBAND. from whom we would least expect them. Only a short time ago I read of a duke who arose in the night to the shill alarm of "Fire!" Going to the fire department, he succeeded in getting out and firing the engine, after which he rushed to the conflagration, shricking "Fire!" in a shrill tone of youre, and finally succeeded in saving several lives by his own personal efforts. This shows that even a duke may not be above herole actions at such a time. And I am tree to say that we should not forget that he has good impulses, and that we should not be too hard on ium. A duke like that need never be out of a job. Any time that he will come to me when I have any duking to be done I will give lam work as long as it lasts.

Ohio has, during entire existence as a His Strength and His Weakness state, been the dumping ground for all the medical quacks of the United States and Canada, owing to the absence of any restrictions placed upon those offering to deal with the lives of its cirizens. Lawyers have been required to undergo a prescribed course of study and apprenticeship, but doctors, or alleged doctors have been free to come in and make as much money off the suffering and credulous as they could. That condition will no longer exist, the senate having passed the house bill which creates a board of medical examiners and authorpopular young Republicans of the lizes it to compel every person desirons iful valley of the Miami is the of practicing medicine to prove himself capable of taking charge of a sick room, It is a worthy measure and one which will unquestionably save human life. One good feature of it is that the doctors themselves are required to pay enough for their certificates from the board to save the taxpayers from ex- abpulation. It is upon high authority I

There is some difference of opinion as to the revenue that will be brought to the state by the increase of the Dow tax to $350. Mr. Goodale, the author of the law, has an idea that the number of saloons will be decreased to between 7,000 and 8,000 and that consequently the revenues of the state will not be increased by much more than $250,000 a year. Ex-Governor Forager, however, disagrees with Mr. Goodale. While here during the week he put it as his conviction that the decrease in the number of saloons would not be so great as anticipated by Mr. Goodale and that the revenue would be increased by little less than the following that the revenue would be increased by little less than $500,000. It is to be remembered that Governor Foraker has had a long experience with state affairs which gives his opinions great weight.

The question of whether the general ssembly shall pass the Akerbill requiring all boards of education to furnish schoolbooks to the pupils of the public schools free of charge is becoming intersting. As the law now stands, each locality can determine for itself whether t wishes to adopt this plan, and School Commissioner Carson rather leans to this phase of local option. But there is a strong pressure for the passage of the Aker bill, especially from the labor ormany of which have adopted resolutions on the subject and are working upon their members of the legislature to induce them to support

It is stated that the average schoolbooks, per pupil, in this state is about $1.65, or about $1,400,000 a year for all choolchildren of the state. At Tiffin, to the people of Springfield as an where the free book plan is in operation. mey at law, and so well pleased the average cost for the first year was they with him that five years later $1.06, and as a book will last for from three to five years the cost for subsequent years, will, of course, be less. In Maine, where all children are furnished books free, the average cost per pupil, year after year, has been 58 cents, while in St. Louis the expense has been still less, being 37 cents per pupil. Hon, John B. Peaslee, who, has spent nearly his whole life in the schools, was prinripal and superintendent of schools in Cincinnati and was Democratic candidate for lientenant governor last year, succinctly put the reasons why the advocates of the free schoolbook plan ask that the Aker law be passed. His reasons are; It will save many thousands of dollars; it will permit of the expeditious organizing of the schools at the beginning of each session; it is in complete harmony with our Democratic form of government, in that it will place on a level the children of the rich and the children of the poor: the children of the poor will not be compelled to humiliate themselves by pleading poverty as a reason for asking the authorities to supply them with free books; children will be trained to take are of things which are not their own. and it will make our schools, what they should be, literally free schools, as a Candidate. DEMOCRATIC PLANS AND PURPOSES

Why the Original Horizontal Tariff Reistration-Talk of Whitney, Olney and of the President Simself

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22. - (Special.) -Great things are going on under the surface in the political world. Up to this has monopolized attention in the current gossip of the day, but now the Democratic | pinger over the heads of older men in plans and maneuvers are beginning to receive their share of speculation and maam able to make the statement that the administration wing of the Democratic party is now engaged casting about for a candidate upon whom to center their strength in the Chicago convention next July. They have realized the necessity of having some organized movement to present in opposition to the effort which is being made to place in nomination Colonel William R. Morrison of Illinois. Mr. Morrison is now the leading candidate. He is virtually the only one for whom a great deal of work is being done. The Morrison movement has assumed large proportions. It is engaged in by both sound money and silver men, and this fact gives the keynote to what is called the Murrison boom.

A Checkmating Movement.

The men who are trying to make Mr. Morrison the candidate have for their ear dinal principle the idea that the party must have harmony on the fluancial ques-tion or it cannot win. With Morrison they say harmony can be secured; that he is satisfactory to the silver men on account of his conservatism and his devotion to old time Democratic principles, and that he ought to be satisfactory to the sound money wing of the party because he is himself a sound money man, with a consistent record behind him. As proof of this claim they point to the fact that Mr. Morrison is now being enthusiastically supported by both sound money and free silver men in the states of Illinois and Missouri and others. They go farther and say that Mr. Morrison is the only man who has thus far been suggested who occupies a position which would lead to harmony in the party; that he is the only man on whom the two wings can unite, and that herefore his nomination is inevitable.

But to these propositions the administration men do not consent. In fact, they have taken alarm at the growth of the Morrison movement and are now easting suspect, or pretend to suspect, Mr. Morri on's soundness on the currency question. They fear that while he is theoretically correct and in sympathy with them he trains too much with the silver forces and has too many warm friends in that camp. In administration circles one hears very often the statement, which is not accompanied by proof, that Mr. Morrison has promised the silver mon that if elected president he will sign a free coinage bill should congress pass one. The administration people admit this is not likely to present a real danger, and that Colonel Morrison is quite safe in making such a promise, if indeed he has made one, for h s not likely to be elected president, and there is no earthly probability of the next or the ensuing congress passing a bill for the free coinage of silver. it would never do to permit the free silver forces to obtain the mastery in party councils. In their opinion that would set the blow all the good results obtained by Mr. Cleveland's leadership toward what they term the sound and safe principles of Colonel Morrison's Characteristics To Mr. Morrison personally they have no public objections. They admit him to be an honest and patriotic man and even concede that he would make an admirable candidate, with his simplicity and ruggedness of character and his nearness to the people. The fact that he served in the Mexican war and the rebellion and that he has ever since been preminently identi-fied with tariff reform would in some renaugurated three years ago, Mr. Morrison swore he would not sot foot in the White House white Mr. Cleveland remained there, and he has so far kept his word. peace between the two men, but without necess. It is said of Colonel Morrison that while one of the most lovable of men to his friends and to those who are honored with his confidence he is implacable in his comities and waspish and disagreeable with those who fall under his displeasure or suspicion. These are the objections of nen who do not intend to permit him to be nominated if they can help it, and they think they can.

Other Names Mentioned.

But they realize that Mr. Morrison cannot be beaten without a candidate to pit against him, and they are now looking the field over for the most available man. If Mr. Whitney would consent to the use of his name, all the administration strongth would be thrown to him with michienthusiasm. Indeed it is probable Mr. Whitney could be easily nominated if he were refuses to be considered in the field. He even goes so far as to say that he would refuse the nomination if it were tendered him. Efforts are being made to induce to be successful. Mr. Whitney is sincere in his declarations that he cares no more for political honors. All he wants is to be him to stand for the presidency. Other names under consideration by the members of the administration are those of Secretary Olney, who has grown very fast of late in popular esteem, and who is admitted to be one of the greatest secretaries of state the country has ever had: Secretary Carlisle, against whom the silver men are particularly bitter, and Postmaster General Wilson. There is some talk for ex-Governor Pattison of Pennsylvania, but for reasons not fully explained the admin-istration Democrats in Washington do not warm up to him very much. And there are plenty of Democrats in Washington ing Mr. Cleveland.

WALTER WELLMAN.

MRS. BLAINE'S VICTORY.

No military appointment in army an nals has ever caused so much discussion and met with so much opposition as that of John J. Coppinger, whose promotion from colonel to the rank of brigadier general was recently confirmed by the senate. The appointment was due in the first place to the efforts of Mrs. James G. Blair widow of the statesformer is Not Acceptable to the Admin- man, whose daughter General Coupinger married some years ago. Mrs. Blaine's earnestness in securing her souin-law's promotion has ent no small figure in national politics. tests. Much of the opposition came from the American Protective association, and besides the fact that he was a Roman Catholic it was urged that he had only recently become a citizen of the United States. The friends of Colonel Coppinger showed that although a native of Ireland he was a graduate of West Point and had as brilliant a war record as could be desired. He was in 31 battles during the war and was wounded twice. He did not take out naturalization papers until 1890, but only delayed in order that his children might inherit an fulls of Niagara bar the only other outestate in Ireland. These arguments broke the force of the opposition and the nomination was confirmed by a decisive vote.

General Coppinger, after leaving West Point, went to Rome in 1860 and was made a chevalier for gallant work in papal army. He came back to this country as soon as the war was declared, and fought gallantly all through the struggle. Since then he has been in the regular army.

A WOMAN BANK CASHIER.

Mrs. Dick Distinguished as the Only One of Her Sez So Employed.

Mrs. Sarah Frances Dick has the disinction of being the only woman bank cashier in the country. She is employed in that capacity by the First National bank of Huntington, Ind., of which her father is the president. She is not merely the nominal cashier, but she is one of the hardest working officials in that institution. She was educated in the common schools of Hantington and at the Miami college in Dayton, O. She went into the bank in 1873 and when her father retired as cashier several years ago she succeeded him in the office. She was also elected a director of the bank at the same time. She was married in 1878 to Mr. Julius Dick, a prominent merchant of Huntingtou, but that did not interfere with ber handling coins and currency. She is familiar with the signatures of hundreds of business men whose checks she handles and has never been made the victim of a swindler.

The rapidity with which Mrs. Dick dispatches business has often been commented on. She has no assistant, but with accurate deftuess keeps the bank clear of a crowd during rush hours. In one day she handled over $54,000 in small amounts, making over 600 distinct transactions in 300 minutes, an average of 55 seconds for each transaction, and the cash balanced to a cent. Mrs. Dick is a tall and graceful blond and finds time to go a good deal into local society. She is equally at home behind the cashier's desk, in the directors' room or at social functions. She does not claim to be a new woman, however, and the only Mr. Ferry—Usually it does, but I are plenty of Democrats in Washington be a new woman, however, and the only have accomplished their purpose, too.

THE WELLAND CANAL ITS STRATEGIC IMPORTANCE IN CASE

Protecting the Channel That Convects the Great Lakes- History of the Causi, The Work of Half & Century, It seems that the Canadians have just begun to realize that the Welland canal, the Dominion's only gateway to the great lakes, is in an emprotected condiion and would be entirely at the mercy of an invading force from the United States in event of war being declared. recent address at the opening of parlinstrengthening the national defenses, and while the caual was not mentioned it is almost certain that it was appermost in his mind at the time. Following this came the appropriation of $25,000,000 to be used in drilling and organizing the militia forces and the intimation from the minister of finance that a much larger There is an old saw to the effect that a chain is no stronger than its weakest link. The Welland canal is a link in that great clinin of waterways that con

MAP OF THE WELLAND CANAL nects Lake Superior with the Atlantic.

It is the only route which lake vessels let. It took the Canadians, backed by the British government, nearly balf a century to complete this canal, and it cost over $21,000,000, yet its usefulness could be destroyed by an invading force in a few hours. General Flagler, chief the defense of La Rocca gateway by the of the ordnance corps of the United States army, has suggested that Great Britain could not only lay waste the big cities on the Atlantic seaboard, but that she would send a few warships down the St. Lawrence, through Lake Ontario and the Welland canal, when the lake cities would be entirely at the mercy of the big gans. Canada's achievements in canal con struction have certainly been grand. There are now 71 miles of artificial waterways within the Canadian bor ders, paralleling the parts of the St. Lawrence and Ningara rivers that are not navigable. The total cost of this great work is estimated at $75,000,000. but she has within her own borders a channel from the Atlantic to Lake Eric through which could be sont 52 of the gunboats of the English pavy. The United States, on the other hand could not get even the lightest and smallest of her warships within several hundred miles of the great lakes. The Erie canal of course furnishes a commercial connection, but inasmuch as a fleet of canalboats would be the most that Uncle Sam could muster in inland waters it would not be of much use in case of war. The United States has only one revenue cutter on the lakes, hardly a match for one of the 52 ships which John Bull could send there.

When it is remembered, however, that without the Welland canal all this chain of canals would be useless, another phase of the situation is presented-a phase as comforting to Americans as it is discomforting to Canadians. That little stretch of land known as the Welland peninsula is a barrier to mavigation between Lake Ontario and Lake Erie. The canal is a gateway in this barrier and the Cana dians hold the keys. The keys, however, are not held in a very strong grasp.

The canal proper is 26% miles in length. There are 25 locks, each 270 feet long by 45 wide. The destruction of one of these locks would make the canal impassable until it could be remaired which might take a mouth or more. The most vulnerable point of this gateway to the lakes is at Welland, where the canal is carried over the Welland river by means of a viaduct. It took ten years to build this and it could be destroyed in ten minutes with half a hundred bounds of dynamite. Of course, with no prospect of war in sight the Canadians are not losing any great amount of sleep over this condition of affairs, but some of them realize that the canals needs to be protected. The principal system of locks is not more than a dozen miles from the American line and a single company of raiders could land on the Canadian side at night, march to the locks and close navigation before daylight.

That all this is possible has already been demonstrated. Next Jone the Canadians will celebrate at Ridgeway, not far from Welland, the thirtieth anniversary of their successful resistance of the Fenians who went over from Buffalo to wreck the canal. There was a short but sharp engagement between the raiders and the militia and the latter retired to Port Colborne. The Fenians might have accomplished their purpose, too. and they returned.

THE GREAT SOUTH AMERICAN

Stomach Liver Cure

The Most Astonishing Medical Discovery of the Last One Hundred Years. It is Pleasant to the Taste as the Sweetest Nectar. It is Safe and Harmless as the Purest Milk.

This wonderful Nervine Tonic has only recently been introduced into this country by the proprietors and manufacturers of the Great South American Nervine Tonic, and yet its great value as a curative agent has long been known by a few of the most learned physicians, who have not brought its merits and value to the knowledge of the

This medicine has completely solved the problem of the cure of indigestion, dyspepsia, and diseases of the general nervous system. It is also of the greatest value in the cure of all forms of failing health from vhatever cause. It performs this by the great nervine tonic qualities which it possesses, and by its great curative powers upon the digestive organs, the stomach, the liver and the bowels. No remedy compares with this wonderfully valuable Nervine Tonic as a builder and strengthener of the life forces of the human body, and as a great renewer of a broken-down constitution. It is also of more real permanent value in the treatment and cure of diseases of the lungs than any consumption remedy ever used on this continent. It is a marvelous cure for nervousness of females of all ages. Ladies who are approaching the critical period known as change in life, should not fail to use this great Nervine Tonic, almost constantly, for the space of two or three years. It will carry them safely over the danger. This great strengthener and curative is of inestimable value to the aged and infirm, because its great energizing properties will give them a new hold on life. It will add ten or fifteen years to the lives of many of those who will use a half dozen bottles of the remedy each year.

NERVOUS DISEASES.

As a cure for every class of Nervous Diseases, no remedy has been dde to compare with the Nervine Tonic, which is very pleasant and barmless in all its effects upon the youngest child or the oldest and most lelicate individual. Ning tenths of all the ailments to which the human family is heir are dependent on nervous exhaustion and impaired digestion. When there is an insufficient supply of nerve food in the blood, a general state of debility of the brain, spinal marrow, and nerves is the result. Starved nerves, like starved muscles, become streng when the right kind of food is supplied; and a thousand weaknesses and ailments heappear as the nerves recover. As the nervous system must supply all the power by which the vital forces of the body are carried on, it is the first to suffer for want of perfect nutrition. Ordinary food does not contain a sufficient quantity of the kind of nutriment necessary to repair the wear our present mode of living and labor imposes upon the nerves. For this reason it becomes necessary that a nerve food be supplied. This South American Nervine has been found by analysis to contain the ssential elements out of which nerve tissue is formed. This accounts for its universal adaptability to the cure of all forms of nervous de-

A SWORN CURE FOR ST. VITAS' DANCE OR CHOREA.

CKAWFORDSVILLE, IND., June 22, 1887.
My daughter, eleven years old, was severely affilieted with St. Vitus' Dauce or Chorea. We gave her three and one-half bottles of South American Nervine and she is completely restored. I believe it will cure every case of St. Vitus' Dance. I have kept it in my family for two years, and am sure it is the greatest remedy in the world for Indigestion and Dyspepsia, and for all forms of Nervous Disorders and Failing Health, from whatever cause
